

FEDERATION INTERNATIONALE DE L' AUTOMOBILE

ACCREDITATION GUIDELINES FOR THE 20% FIA FORMULA ONE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

These Accreditation Guidelines are applicable to the 2011 FIA Formula One World Championship (the "Championship"). The Fédération Internationale de l'Automobile ("FIA") owns the Championship and recognises the value of the media for reporting on the Championship, provided that such coverage respects both the intellectual property rights that have been licensed by FIA to the FOM Group and third parties associated with the Championship.

Applicants for media accreditation are invited to carefully read these Guidelines before submitting their application.

All accredited parties and their journalists, photographers and editors are required to adhere to these Guidelines.

4. RACE-BY-RACE ACCREDITATION PROCEDURE

5. PERMANENT ACCREDITATION PROCEDURE

1. ONLINE ACCREDITATION

All international requests from publications OR agencies for race-by-race or permanent accreditations must be made online.

Applications from publications for their national event must be addressed to the National Press Office of each circuit.

First-time applicants (publications / agencies) must register before any application for accreditation can be submitted (see link on the right-hand side or click here). Applicants may be asked for a number of documents by email which need to be supplied in their original form by post. After approval by the FIA the applicant will receive an email which will give access to the online accreditation system. Only then can an accreditation application be submitted. Please note that the FIA reserves the right to refuse access to the online accreditation system.

After approval the online accreditation system can be accessed via the FIA website (see link on the right-hand side or click here) using your chosen username and password.

The online accreditation system will apply for accreditation requests for any event for the 2011 FIA Formula One World Championship. Permanent pass applications for the 2011 FIA Formula One World Championship will open in the autumn of 2011. The online accreditation system not only gives the possibility to apply for a press credential but also to monitor current and past requests any time the user logs into their account on the system.

2. ACCREDITATION PRINCIPLES

2.1 Publications and Agencies

Editors of publications and agencies are asked to conform to the following principles to ensure that media accreditation is restricted to professional journalists and photographers:

The FIA considers the press pass to be a working tool to be used only by bona-fide members of the press. Publishers, marketing personnel, sub-editors, staff of the publication's secretariat, etc. cannot be accredited as media.

The FIA only accredits publications and agencies:

- a) with a minimum circulation whose size and quality fulfill the criteria of the FIA;
- b) with a format and quality which fulfill the criteria of the FIA;
- c) which are available to the public in sales outlets (for publications only).

Internal magazines of companies, trade magazines and newsletters cannot be accredited as media. However, at the sole discretion of the FIA, and where the quality and circulation criteria justify their consideration, such magazines may be eligible for accreditation on a case-by-case basis.

TV and radio as well as commercial photographers must send their accreditation application to the commercial rights holder:

Formula One Management Ltd, Accreditation Service, 6 Princes Gate, London SW7 - Great Britain - Tel (44) 207 584 6668 / Fax (44) 207 589 2191.

Email: media@fomltd.com (for TV and radio)

Email: accreditationoffice@fomltd.com (for commercial photographers)

Under no circumstances will advertising, public relations agencies or similar companies and organisations be accredited as media, nor will the FIA issue any accreditation to representatives (press officers or otherwise) of sponsors, suppliers, engine suppliers, teams, drivers, etc.

The FIA will only accredit press from outside the country in which the event is held. National press must apply to the National Press Officer (e.g. Spanish press applying for the Spanish Grand Prix must apply to the National Press Officer whilst press from countries other than Spain must apply to the FIA).

Accreditation requests of the central and local offices of the major international press agencies (AFP, ANSA, AP, DPA, EFE, JIJI, KYODO, Press Association, Reuters, etc.) will always be handled by the FIA. Requests from the local offices must be accompanied by a letter from the agency's main headquarters.

2.2 Websites

Internet Accreditation is intended for professional stand-alone Internet editorial/news coverage only. It is not to be used for any other purposes, including but not limited to public relations, promotional, commercial or entertainment use.

Because of space constraints at circuits, the number of websites that can be accredited is limited and availability may depend on the location. An application may be refused even where all the Accreditation Criteria are met, in particular on the grounds of capacity.

A maximum of one representative journalist per website per event may be accredited. Websites associated with a print or broadcast media organisation that has already applied for, and been granted, any other form of media accreditation will not qualify for Internet Accreditation.

3. ACCREDITATION CRITERIA

3.1 Publications and Agencies

Permanent media accreditation is available to publications intending to publish reports for every Formula One race during the season (please see paragraph 5 below).

For race-by-race accreditations, priority is given to publications intending to publish a report related to the event for which the accreditation is requested.

Press passes can also be allocated on a race-by-race basis to general news, specialist, business and lifestyle consumer publications that do not intend to publish conventional race reports but whose coverage is considered to be of promotional benefit to the sport.

Usually, a maximum of two representatives (journalists and/or photographers) per publication may be accredited for any one round of the Championship.

All applicants must fulfill the following basic criteria:

Coverage

For a daily newspaper a substantial amount of coverage for each event is required. For example, an introductory article in the Thursday edition, follow-up articles in Friday, Saturday and, where applicable, Sunday editions, plus a race report in the Monday edition.

For a weekly or monthly publication a substantial amount of coverage for each event is required and a major portion of the overall content should be on the subject of Formula One.

Publications or agencies applying for a race-by-race photographer accreditation must supply evidence of independent coverage of a minimum of 15 pictures per pass issued at each event they have been accredited for in the previous year's Championship.

Quality

The highest standards of fairness and accuracy are expected as a minimum quality requirement from the press.

Circulation

Accreditation decisions are based on the relative 'media market' in the country of the applicant. As such, the usual minimum circulation for a national weekly or monthly publication is 20,000 copies. For a national daily the minimum circulation is 50,000 copies.

Freelance journalists must apply for credentials via their own agencies. The onus is on the freelance applicant to prove the supply of regular Formula One related stories to at least five publications meeting the FIA Accreditation Criteria.

Photo agencies must be able to prove that the pictures have been regularly sold to publications matching the FIA Accreditation Criteria and have been paid for at the normal commercial rate. A publication must be able to prove that the pictures published are the original work of the publication's accredited photographer.

3.2 Websites

To be eligible for consideration for Internet Accreditation an applicant must register online and comply with or fulfill (as the case may be) the following Accreditation Criteria:

The FIA will not grant Internet Accreditation to websites who are associated with media organisations that have applied and been granted any other form of media accreditation. Such websites should use the accreditation obtained through their associated media organisations.

The applicant must be a professionally run website dedicated to reporting on the Championship and its events or a professionally run general news or sports website with a dedicated Championship section. In each case all and any coverage of the Championship must be free of charge to the public.

The applicant must submit audited traffic figures for the last three years (expressed as unique IP addresses per year) together with a geographical breakdown of users (i) for the website or (ii) in case the website is not a website dedicated to the Championship, for the Championship section of the website.

Traffic figures must be confirmed by an Internet auditor of industry repute acceptable to the FIA.

The applicant must submit satisfactory evidence of publication on the website of news coverage of each Championship event in the previous three Championship seasons, together with the dates of publication, correctly by-lined. Blogs will not qualify.

For an application for a Permanent Accreditation the representative journalist of the website must have attended and reported on at least 12 events during the previous Championship season.

Please note that only coverage of Championship events will qualify for consideration. General feature articles that are non-event specific will not qualify.

The applicant must undertake to publish for each round of the Championship in the season in which Accreditation is sought as follows:

- i. at least one news story (of 250 words or more) on each of the Thursday, Friday, Saturday, race day and Monday;
- ii. at least one feature article (500 words or more) for each event.

The representative journalist must be (i) a full time professional journalist with a national press card (or equivalent) and (ii) must be employed or engaged by the website as a journalist, wholly or primarily for the coverage of the Championship.

The website must maintain a clear “contacts” section with a link from the website homepage and which must contain full contact details for the website including a full postal address (PO Boxes not accepted), telephone and fax numbers, email address; and (ii) all contributing journalists must be named either on their articles or elsewhere on the website, photographs must be accompanied by a photographer’s credit and all sources must be credited in accordance with editorial best practice.

The website must have a suitable written Privacy Policy, a Right to Reply/Complaints Policy and otherwise comply with all laws, regulations, guidelines and good practice relating to the operation of a website.

The applicant must respect others’ intellectual property rights of the FIA, the Formula One Group and third parties. This shall include the strict prohibition on the taking of any moving picture images, sound recordings, use of trade marks, title or logos or the transmission of certain kinds of results as further set out in the Accreditation Agreement. If any pass holder is found producing moving images of any kind of the Event (or any part thereof), their accreditation will be withdrawn and the pass holder will be not be admitted to any major FIA championships for the foreseeable future. Commercial photographers must send their accreditation application directly to the commercial rights holder as set out in paragraph 1 above.

The FIA will allocate Internet Accreditation taking into account the above criteria in order to ensure that Championship coverage on the Internet is carried out responsibly and that coverage is as widespread as possible. Please note that due to the limited space available for media at the Championship events, compliance with the above cannot guarantee Internet Accreditation.

4. RACE-BY-RACE ACCREDITATION PROCEDURE
