WELCOME MESSAGE

2017 FORMULA 1™ ETIHAD AIRWAYS ABU DHABI GRAND PRIX

A very warm welcome to the 2017 Abu Dhabi Grand Prix and to Yas Marina Circuit.

Whilst the 2017 Drivers' Championship is already decided, we are expecting an exciting season finale with a full schedule of on-track action, complemented by one of the biggest fan-centric entertainment weekends on the calendar – a unique mix of family fun across four full days. We are a 'sold-out' event and we again look forward to receiving 60,000 fans on site.

This year there has been a lot of change across F1® and in-keeping with this we are also looking to ensure innovation and new stories for the 2017 Abu Dhabi Grand Prix.

Our range of off-track action includes Super Thursday, Family Friday, Quali Saturday & Race Sunday. Each evening, we provide race-goers with four A-list after-race concerts to enjoy, with the opportunity to get the best access through our Golden Circle Upgrade ticket options.

New for 2017 we have introduced the chance to experience Yas Hot Laps on track, our new 'Kids GO Free' offer on Friday as well as access to all of Yas Island's parks through our GP Parks Pass. Yas Marina Circuit will also host the inaugural F1® Esports Series Grand Final during race weekend.

Finally, we would like to invite you to join us for our 'Media Welcome' on Thursday 23 November on the rooftop of the Media Centre between 6.30pm-8:30pm. New to Abu Dhabi this year is the opening of the Louvre Abu Dhabi on Saadiyat Island, and we have arranged a presentation from the Museum at 7pm so you will have all the information you need.

Once again, Stuart and the Scotsport team are on hand to support us across the weekend, we hope this familiarity makes your job easier to achieve.

Our purpose is to create a great working environment and we are here to provide you with all the support and information you require, so just reach out to us in the Yas Marina Circuit shirts should you need anything.

Warm Regards,

Yas Marina Circuit Team

2016 Formula 1 Etihad Airways Abu Dhabi Grand Prix

SECOND TO NONE: NICO NICKS TITLE WITH PODIUM FINISH

'We did it!' was the scream from Nico Rosberg's Mercedes cockpit as the German clinched his first Drivers' World Championship by finishing second to teammate Lewis Hamilton in the 2016 Formula 1 Etihad Airways Abu Dhabi Grand Prix.

While Hamilton claimed his 10th victory of 2016, the 53rd of his F1 career and his third at Yas Marina, Rosberg was content to see off a late challenge from Ferrari's Sebastian Vettel and beat the Englishman to the title by five points.

'Very, very glad it's all over,' said the 31-year-old Rosberg after following in the footsteps of his father Keke, who was World Champion with Williams in 1982

'That was definitely not the most enjoyable race I've ever had! With Max [Verstappen] in the beginning and those guys coming at the end, really not very enjoyable in those last laps.'

Hamilton was philosophical in championship defeat: 'I did everything I could these last four races,' he stressed, 'and that's all I could really ask of myself. I'm going to have a lot of fun tonight, celebrating with the team and everyone. You can't win them all: we had a lot of problems this year and inevitably that's why I'm in this position.'

If Rosberg meant Mercedes-Benz when he said 'We did it', he was right: the eighth Abu Dhabi race saw the Anglo-German team secure its 14th front row lock-out of the season, this one with Hamilton on pole, and brought the eighth 1-2 finish of 2016 for the Silver Arrows.

Vettel tried a last-lap lunge on Rosberg at Turn 10, but the Mercedes man held his nerve as four cars sprinted for the line. Verstappen's Red Bull recovered from a Turn 1 spin on the very first lap to be well in the mix until Vettel's last-stint pace proved too much even for the Flying Dutchman.

Behind Max was his teammate Daniel Ricciardo, while Kimi Räikkönen was sixth for Ferrari ahead of the Force Indias of Nico Hülkenberg, who was having his final race for the team before moving to Renault, and Sergio Pérez.

Felipe Massa, in what was supposed to be the 250th and last Grand Prix of his career, could manage only ninth for Williams. With teammate Valtteri Bottas out after just eight laps, that poor result allowed Force India to achieve their own target of finishing fourth ahead of Williams in the Constructors' Championship – the team's highest position in its nine-year F1 history.

Fernando Alonso finished off another testing season for McLaren by taking the final point in 10th place, but it was an unhappy 'au revoir' to F1 for his teammate Jenson Button. The popular Briton was out with suspension damage before quarter-distance.

Seventeen of the 22 starters made it to the finish, with fastest race lap going to Vettel with a time of 1:43.729, an average speed of 192.756 km/h, on lap 43. It was the first time F1 had included a 21st race in a single season.

As an end-note, Rosberg's first title was to be his last: within days of his success Nico announced his retirement from Grand Prix racing, although Massa changed his mind and opted to give Williams the benefit of his experience for another season when his 2016 teammate Bottas moved up to fill Rosberg's seat at Mercedes.

FIA FORMULA 2 CHAMPIONSHIP

Leclerc on the fast track

Just a year ago we were celebrating Charles Leclerc's success in taking the GP3 title right here at Yas Marina.

In 2017 the Leclerc Express is still firmly on track: with eight pole positions in 10 meetings, six race wins and an unassailable lead, the Monaco racer who turned 20 in October was crowned the inaugural FIA F2 Championship winner – the renamed GP2 – after his latest victory in the feature race at Jerez in Spain in the penultimate round.

Now Leclerc returns to Yas Marina with F1 firmly in his sights: he is widely expected to race for Sauber next season as his meteoric rise through the Ferrari ranks continues.

'Obviously it's important to be in the right team,' said the PREMA star after securing his F2 crown. 'It's always something that makes you win the championship – I think we've had a really good year, we have worked hard from winter testing and we focused on ourselves.'

'Winter testing wasn't how we wanted it to be, we didn't feel we were quick enough, but then coming to the first race I did quite a step and they did quite a step also and we were very quick from then on.'

With the drivers' title decided it's the teams who provide a thrilling finale at Abu Dhabi this season. Coming to their 11th and last event, PREMA are on 345 points through Leclerc and Monza race-winner Antonio Fuoco, but DAMS are just two behind thanks to the season-long brilliance of Oliver Rowland, who has won twice in Monaco and Hungary to push Leclerc all the way, and his teammate Nicolas Latifi, the sprint race-winner at Silverstone.

As if that weren't enough, just two points further behind are RUSSIAN TIME, with Artem Markelov and Luca Ghiotto, both race-winners in their own right this season. The 23-year-old Markelov took out the very first race of the season in Bahrain, won again in Belgium and has two sprint-race victories in Austria and Spain on his 2017 honours list as well.

We are in the final year of the GP2/11 with its Dallara chassis and Mecachrome 4-litre normally-aspirated power unit. Each driver is free to use five sets of Pirelli race tyres per meeting, three of the primes and two of the options, which come from a range going from Supersoft to Hard as specified by the Italian manufacturer.

Pole position earns four points, fastest lap two, and for Race 1 the points distribution is as per F1: 25-18-15-12-10-8-6-4-2-1, while Race 2 awards points on the scale of 15-12-10-8-6-4-2-1.

GP3 SERIES

Russell romps to 2017 title

At just 19, George Russell seems to have the motor racing world at his feet.

Second place in the feature race at Jerez, Spain, in the penultimate round of the 2017 GP3 Series was enough to make the ART driver the new champion ahead of teammate Jack Aitken.

But it took a good talking-to, by himself, to get the English youngster – he hails from the same neck of the woods as popular F1 analyst Martin Brundle – up and running after a less than dominant start to the season in Barcelona.

After finishing off the podium in both Spanish races, Russell knuckled down to the task. 'We had a test in Budapest between the first and second round,' he explained. 'I set myself the goal that I could put it on pole every single race from then until the end of the season. It was almost there: I put it on pole three times.'

Each time he took pole, Russell also took the race victory, setting up the perfect platform for his Jerez title success. But he hasn't had it all his own way in another typically gripping GP3 year.

While Aitken won in Hungary, yet another ART driver, Nirei Fukuzumi, claimed victories of his own in Barcelona and Jerez. Anthoine Hubert, meanwhile, may not have chalked up a race win but he was a regular podium visitor in mid-season. But those achievements, insists Russell, were all part of his own triumph.

'It's helped to have three extremely fast and intelligent teammates,' he maintains. 'We all got along very well this season and we have all come together after every session to talk with the engineers and to push the team forward. I think it's quite easy for any of us to say ART had the best car and the reason behind it was that we worked so well as a team.'

It's not all about ART, either. A young man with a familiar name has scored three race wins of his own so far for the Trident team to finish the season as the top non-ART driver. That's Giuliano Alesi, 18-year-old son of the very popular former Ferrari F1 star Jean.

Other race-winners this season include Jenzer Motorsport's Arjun Maini from India, South African Raoul Hyman for Campos Racing and Alessio Lorandi, the Italian winner of the sprint race last time out in Spain, also for Jenzer.

The cars in GP3 are all Dallara GP3/16 chassis mated with a Mecachrome six-cylinder 3.4-litre engine. Each driver is free to use four sets of race tyres per meeting, coming from a range going from Soft through Medium to Hard as designated by sole supplier Pirelli.

As happens in F2, pole position earns four points, fastest lap two, and for Race 1 the points distribution is as per F1: 25-18-15-12-10-8-6-4-2-1, while Race 2 awards points on the scale of 15-12-10-8-6-4-2-1.
