This development has been supported by different variables, such as the top academic environment, with the University of Minho, an institution increasingly distinguished in terms of research and innovation; the distinction of UNESCO as a Media Arts Creative City since 2017, which crosses Creativity and Technology at the highest level, through the exploration of arts, science, technology and innovation;

the International Nanotechnology Laboratory, an internationally renowned laboratory, unique in the world, which develops its activity in the field of nanoscience and nanotechnology; and, finally, the result of an innovative and bold business enterprise, marked, on the one hand, by renowned companies in the area of information and communication technologies, with sustained internationalization projects and, on the other hand, by emerging entrepreneurship based on a logic of incubation laboratories, such as Startup Braga.

With a young and dynamic population, Braga is acknowledged for its sporting talents and for developing physical activities addressed to all age ranges. That's why the city was awarded the title of European City of Sport 2018 from the Association of European Capitals of Sport (ACES Europe).

Braga has several sports infrastructures such as the Municipal Stadium, also known as a pedreira (the quarry), from the renowned Portuguese architect Eduardo Souto de Moura, built as a venue for the 2004 UEFA European Championship. It is the current home ground of Sporting Clube de Braga, involved in the main national and European competitions and followed by thousands of supporters.

Another place worth mentioning is the Complexo Desportivo da Rodovia, prepared for the practice of different sports such as football, basketball, volleyball, beach soccer, jogging, skating, fitness, among others. For those who like adventure sports, you can visit Picoto Park, in Monte do Picoto and take the opportunity to admire the view over the city that the viewpoint offers.

Aside from several municipal swimming pools, tennis courts and sports halls where various sports can be practiced, Braga has an important history related to motorsports, with a racing circuit and a karting track (KIB- Autódromo e Kartódromo Internacional de Braga). This Circuito Vasco Sameiro was inaugurated in 1993 and has hosted national and international federated motorsports events since it was built. The Kartódromo Internacional has hosted regional, national and international federated competitions, including the World Karting Championship in 2012. But this circuit can also be used for leisure time and it is thus possible to rent and drive a kart there.

The visitor can also find the Braga Municipal Aerodrome, headquarters of the Aero Club de Braga, a nationally certified aeronautical infrastructure which provides light aviation and transport training and activities, mainly related to the medical emergency and civil protection, but also sports as well as leisure activities, such as the panoramic flight tours around the city. It is also worth mentioning that, just a few minutes away from this place, one may find the Braga Golf Club, with a Pitch and Putt course composed of nine holes, ideal for golfers who want to improve the short game and an Academy for children and young people.

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a black jacket, is seen from behind, looking at four framed black and white photographs mounted on a rough stone wall. The photographs depict various subjects: a profile of a woman's face, a close-up of a person's face, a person in a dark setting, and a person in a light-colored shirt. The word "Museums" is overlaid in large, bold, yellow-green letters at the bottom left of the image.

Shoppings

With a rich historical center, a growing urban rhythm and a great influx of visitors, Braga is a dynamic city that does not forget its history. This is evidenced by the many hundred-old year establishments around the city. There are more than two thousand shops, more than 200 restaurants and other spaces located in the central squares. There, a walk around the pedestrian area becomes a dynamic and unforgettable experience.

Considered to be the capital of commerce, Braga keeps in its arteries the history and tradition that, over the years, has turned the city into a destination for those who are looking for diversity. There are many small shops selling traditional products, be it handicrafts or gastronomy, tailor shops, so well-known in the city, and establishments selling varied goods ... In its essence, there is a traditional trade, more and more allied to a rejuvenated part that brings modernity to facades and interiors filled with pieces that captivate the pleasure of buying or discovering customs: the indispensable visit to Casa das Bananas, in Rua do Souto, to drink a muscatel and eat a banana, and to buy a little souvenir. The Mercado de São João (market), one of the examples of the traditional trade strength, is also a must-visit place where you will learn about the Portuguese conserves, olive oils, cheeses, and wines. The Queijaria Central, in Avenida Central, is a shop with history, mainly due to the delicious Serra da Estrela cheese, pão de ló (sponge cake), and assortments of almonds you can buy there.

The commerce in Braga is a source of life for the historical center and highlights an authentic empire of fashion, restaurants, crafts, grocery, etc.

The Casa dos Terços, famous for being one of the oldest houses in the historical center and for selling beautiful options of sacred art, is also a place of commercial reference, as well as the Casa dos Tecidos, an example of a sector in the city: tailoring.

Since ancient times Braga has been synonymous with elegance as noblemen used to come to town in order to get dressed up. Even today, shops like Janes Boutique, Jorge Lima or Marques Soares are much wanted in the capital of Minho.

The commerce in Braga is rich, diverse and multifaceted. Braga is strategically promoted through a great number of cultural routes and events organized the city, in a constant attempt to mark Braga as a dynamic Capital of Commerce.
